Where “Loot Box” Has Been Changed to “Dynamic Loot” On March 28, 2018, 7Rhinos has completed its internal trial and has determined that the balance of the current system will leave unsatisfactory results if applied on a more widespread scale. 7Rhinos will soon announce a new Loot Box system where, even in cases where dynamic loot occurs, the system will always put a percentage of the loot received from inventory items into the global pool and use that to replace the percentage of normal loot boxes. This will eliminate the issues that have arisen in the current system, and will improve the game balance of having a player win the loot in a battle. 7Rhinos truly regrets the issue that occurred due to the implementation of the old system, and we thank you for your understanding. 7Rhinos is currently hard at work on a new system, and we sincerely hope that you will once again enjoy the improved system. We will inform you with an official announcement as soon as we have confirmed the system’s details. * The speed at which you can earn items will depend on your performance in the current online ranking system. * The strength of the items given in the current loot box system was determined by having the opponent on the battlefield lose fewer items than you did. We are currently reconsidering how to determine the items to be given. * Items that can be obtained through the current loot
