Possible Duplicate: How to find'most popular'? I'm programming a custom question rating system for a forum. I just need to be able to get a list of all the most recently active questions (relatively speaking), sorted by their popularity. So far, I have this query, which is incredibly slow: `SELECT 'question' AS `type`, question_id AS `id`, `date` AS `date` FROM `a_question_votes` v LEFT JOIN `a_question` q ON q.id = v.question_id WHERE q.date > NOW() - INTERVAL 10 DAY ORDER BY v.date DESC LIMIT 1;` Why is this so slow? Is there any way to speed it up? Any help would be appreciated

A: This is a job for the GROUP BY clause. The only way to speed this up is to remove the date column and then do the grouping. `SELECT 'question' AS `type`, question_id AS `id`, count() as `num` FROM `a_question_votes` v LEFT JOIN `a_question` q ON q.id = v.question_id WHERE q.date > NOW() - INTERVAL 10 DAY GROUP BY question_id ORDER BY count() DESC LIMIT 1;`

Q: Review the tag wikis. Review the questions of the tag Wikis. Review the answers to the questions. I am talking about the tag wikis, not the questions about them.

A: Yes, "Review the tag wikis" is a bit of a mouthful. Might seem a bit trivial, but on we set each tag wiki to be its own tag wiki page, and there are many.

Q: Best way to adjust sign based on text input I want to make a number sign (>) after or before the number when the user enters 3a67dffeec

In the process, it doesn't depend on the target PC for any applications and won't modify registries. Information about the start process Recoverable and skidproof nature The app isn't really user-friendly, as it doesn't officially work in the background. That is to say, if you can't end the process of the program in the task manager or the system watchdog, you are more than likely to finish it by yourself. As for the recovery process, it will be much easier if you left a stop file manually (although not recommended). Dragged items into the Start Menu and taskbar The app is not allowed to display items in the Start Menu and Taskbar. Full control over specific folders As for the maximum number of files and folders that it can create, it is neither guaranteed nor specified. The program doesn't work with some specific folders The program doesn't work with some folders such as the following: windows/system windows/default/pantheon windows/desktop/pantheon The biggest drawback to the program is that, since it doesn't work in the background, there is a possibility that it might spoil the Start Menu. To be specific, if the XML serializer in the System.Xml namespace is exactly the same as XSLT 2.0, what is the .NET equivalent to an XSLT 2.0 processor for documents such as XHTML that have their own stylesheets for their own rendering? Do we just have to write a custom XSLT processor that renders XHTML using an XSLT2.0 processor? Are there any open source XSLT 2.0 processors for .NET? A: The XML Serializer and XSLT 2.0 (aka XSLT 1.0) provide ways of transforming XML data to another XML format (XML Serializer) or to HTML (XSLT 2.0). The XML Serializer is not used by any control in .NET, as far as I know. What you have described in your question seems to be a XSLT 1.0 processor. You could try Saxon, which is a commercial product.

Q: Multiple polygon/line layers from count table in ArcGIS? I have a count table of how many occurrences of each area within a bounding box. I also have a layer for each polygon within that bounding box, and I would like to combine these two into a single layer so that I can color the polygon based on the count from the count table. I had hoped that I could either use the output of the 'join count' field to the polygon layer to make a table, and then use the generated color index to color the polygon, or to have the count as a field and use Zonal Statistics in order to derive a color for the poly
